PRELUDE TO INVASION?

Pantellaria's Fate Sealed

Blockade Cuts Off Island, While Air Attacks Continue

RAIDS ON AERODROMES IN SICILY; ITALIAN FLEET CRIPPLED

ALGIERS. June 10.

An American broadcast said: "Our naval forces are maintaining 24-hour blockade around Pantellaria and the island has no hope of getting reinforcements by sea".

Air attacks on Pantellaria continued yesterday, says to-day's Italian communique.

The Radio Algiers said that the pounding of Pantellaria still goes on and 2,000 shells were fired against the island on Tuesday.

LONDON.—It was officially announced at Algiers that pamphlets dropped by plane over Pantelleria yesterday demanded unconditional surrender. The demand was not answered by the garrison.

The Rome Radio to-day said, "The last defenders of Pantelleria are prepared for a possible landing attempt by the enemy. The population of the island is offering resistance side by side with soldiers.

The enemy is at the same time encircling the small island of Lampedusa."

DRAMATIC OFFER.

Reuter's special correspondent at Allied Headquarters in North Africa cables: Pantellaria, cut off by Allied blockade from all but the smallest supply of essentials has weakened first.

MANY AXIS PLANES SHOT DOWN

Allied Headquarters in North Africa:—

To-day's 'communique' announces: "Yesterday the North-West African Air Force continued the offensive against Pantellaria. During the day's attacks 12 enemy aircraft were shot down. One of our planes is missing.

"Further reports show that on June 8, six additional aircraft were destroyed in combat."

The Algier's Radio said this afternoon that 20 Axis fighter planes were shot down over Lampedusa island yesterday. One of the Allied planes is missing.

Aerodromes In Sicily Bombed

CAIRO: To-day's Middle-East air communique says: "On June 10, formations of heavy bombers of the United States Air Force attacked an aerodrome at Gerbine and Catania in Sicily yesterday. Six aircraft were left on fire on the ground at Gerbine, where a hangar received a direct hit and the landing ground was damaged by bomb bursts.

At Catania more direct hits were scored on hangars, one of which exploded. Fires were also started among administration buildings and the surface of the landing ground was pitted with bombs. During these operations at least three enemy aircraft were shot down.

Long-range fighters of the R. A. F. continued their attacks on enemy shipping in the Aegean Sea yesterday. Two sailing vessels were sunk, one left sinking in shallow water and a fourth was last seen on its side badly holed. Two smaller vessels which had been beached were attacked and damaged and another hit with cannon-fire. From these and other operations all our aircraft returned safely."

Fifty United States 'Liberators' took part in daylight attacks on Gerbine and Catania yesterday dropping over a quarter-million pounds of demolition, fragmentation and incendiary bombs on hangars and dispersal areas. The Commander of one bomber group which took part in the raid said that dispersal areas at both the targets were completely churned up and over two dozen grounded aircraft were destroyed and many more damaged. Two Messerschmitt 109's and one Macchi 202 were shot down when 25 Axis fighters attempted interception.

Blow At Italian Fleet

ALGIERS: The latest photographs reveal that the Allied air attack on La Spezia, the naval base, on June 5 was a "major blow at the Italian fleet". The photographs show a battleship of the Littorio class damaged in the bows. The identification markings have disappeared. The raid was one of the heaviest yet from North Africa.

PANTELLARIA: LATEST

(From Reuter's Special Correspondent.)

ALGIERS The defenders of besieged Pantellaria have answered the Allied demand for unconditional surrender by increasing their fighter activity over the island and by intensifying their attempts to intercept the steady stream of American bombers and fighter-bombers pounding the island ceaselessly from North Africa.

U-BOATS FROM ATLANTIC RECALLED HOME?

Preparations To Face Invasion Going Apace

LONDON, June 9.

The "Daily Mail" naval correspondent writes on Thursday "Hitler is already re-calling his U-boats from the Atlantic to defend his European fortress from invasion.

They are being concentrated at strategic points including bases along the French coast such as La Ballice, and the much bombed Lorient; the estuary of Scheldt in Holland and even at Trondheim in Norway.

Their crews are undergoing special training to fit them for meeting our armadas in home waters—so much shallower than those to which they have been accustomed in North Atlantic.

They are to be employed to attack the vast mass of Anglo-American shipping which will follow the establishment of any bridge-head in Europe."

RICE SCARCITY IN MADRAS

MADRAS, June 10

Owing to scarcity of rice, rationing and other methods for ensuring equitable distribution of rice to meet the necessary requirements of the people are being adopted in various places in the Madras Presidency.

In the city of Madras as many as 38 'fair price depots' have been opened at various centres where boiled rice is being sold at the instance of the Government. Some of these depots are earmarked for women while in certain others some fixed hours have been assigned when only women will be supplied with rice. Each one is provided with one rupee worth of rice at a time.

The authorities propose to increase the number of the fair price depots to 80.

A Calicut report states: A committee of the local Municipal Council has drawn up a scheme whereby it is proposed that all people within the Municipal limits would get rice at the rate of half a seer per day per individual. The town has been divided into eight areas each area having a committee of its own to supervise the distribution.

At Erode, the people are being supplied with boiled rice for half a rupee per day per individual on production of Kerosene ration cards.

Similar arrangements are being made in a number of towns in the Presidency including Coimbatore, Bellary and Guntur.—A. P.

His Highness in this connection emphasised the need for cultivation of the "will to victory" to achieve the purpose in view.—A. P.

Pacific Strategy Parleys In Sydney

CANBERRA, June 10

Observers here say that there is the strongest reason for believing that information placed before Prime Minister Curtin by General MacArthur showed that the "holding war" in Pacific is coming to an end.

The next phase will find Japan threatened by a concentration of forces the like of which she confidently expected would never be arrayed against her from Australasian bases. Through the building up of air bases, she will be caught in gigantic pincers, one jaw of which will swing through the Aleutians and the other through the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. This movement would be vaster in scope and swifter than island to island infantry advance. Co-operation between the Pacific forces will enable greater mobility to be used for the concentration of decisive blows against the Japanese fleet if it ventures to appear in force to give battle.

There is complete confidence at the General Headquarters in the outcome of any large scale action now that a naval strength is available which was undreamt of 12 months ago.

ATTACK ON NABIRE AERODROME

Allied Headquarters South-West Pacific: A 'communique' states that a single "Liberator" attacked Nabire aerodrome at mid-day scoring direct hits on two large buildings, apparently munitions warehouses, with 500 pound bombs. A terrific explosion occurred jarring our aircraft at 12,000 feet altitude. Resulting large fires were visible for 75 miles with huge columns of smoke rising to 8,000 feet in the air.—Reuter.

Curtin Optimistic

LONDON, June 10

General MacArthur's Headquarters South-West Pacific:—After meeting General MacArthur last Monday, the Australian Prime Minister John Curtin said: "It was a good day, and from the point of view of Australia, I feel that the pressure of this country is to be thrown back on to the enemy. The holding was imposed on us under circumstances of great difficulty has been an obligation under global strategy which has been discharged. I do not think the enemy can now invade the country. I believe we can hold Australia as a base from where to launch both a limited and a major offensive against Japan."

Sydney Talks Follow Washington

LONDON, June 10

It is revealed to-day, according to agency message from Australia, General MacArthur conferred with Mr. Curtin, Australian Prime Minister on 7th June in Sydney. General MacArthur also saw the Governor-General of Australia, Lord Gowrie, Governor, New South Wales, Lord Wakehurst, and on June 8th, inspected U S. Military installations hospitals. The Correspondent says, important discussions took place on future strategical moves in South-West Pacific in the light of the recent conference between Mr. Churchill and President Roosevelt in Washington.

On Arakan Front

OBJECTIVES AT KALEWA BOMBED

NEW DELHI, June 10

Small scale patrol activity continues in Arakan but otherwise there is nothing to report from this front, says an India Command Joint War 'communique.'

In the Kalemyo area, the situation remains unchanged and there has been no fighting for several days. Yesterday, a formation of Royal Air Force "Blenheims" bombed objectives at Kalewa and in the vicinity. One of our aircraft is missing.—A. P.

"Jap Fleet Nailed In Its Own Bases"

NEW LONDON, June 9.

The United States Under-secretary of the Navy Mr. James Forrestal declared in a speech here on Wednesday.

"Japan's fleet has been nailed in its own bases while aerial bombings are beginning to soften the fortress of Europe. But the time of victory is still uncertain. The final crisis has set to be faced and surmounted.—Reuter.

I.A.F. Active On Burma Front

Parsi Pilot's Encounter With Jap Fighters

NEW DELHI, June 10.

Indian Air Force pilots are now operating over Burma with their comrades of the Royal Air Force. For some time past, they have been in action against the Japanese, forming part of our reconnaissance forces on the Eastern Front.

Not so spectacular as fighter interception, reconnaissance in fighter aircraft demands great navigational skill and much perseverance on the part of pilots. A reconnaissance pilot's job is to get information from the "back of beyond" over jungle and mountainous country. Then it is his duty to avoid combat with the enemy, however tempting the opportunities may be for having a crack at stray Japanese bombers or fighters.

An instance of how important this is came to light recently, when a young Parsi pilot from Bombay met with two Japanese army fighters on his way back from taking photographs of a Japanese aerodrome. He went down to tree level and flying up and down the valleys was successful in shaking them off. He, nevertheless, made one pass at them with his eight guns. "It was too good an opportunity to miss" as he said, on landing, but realising his main duty was to get the pictures back, he concentrated on getting away.

The Burma and Assam frontier is not easy country to fly over high hills, low clouds and adverse weather conditions have to be taken into account before aircraft set off on operations. But in spite of this the R.A.F. and I.A.F. carrying on regularly with their important reconnaissance work: Their activities which are of a routine nature rarely find their way into the communiques or the headlines in this or in any other theatre, but without them. the army and the air force would be working in the dark—A. Rationing In Bombay Suburban District

Registration of holders of ration cards in the municipal areas of Bandra, Juhu, Parle-Andheri, Kurla, Ghatkopar-Kirol and Chembur village in the Bombay Suburban District will commence from June 14.

For this purpose the authorised retail shops will be the ration shops of selected retailers, Government grain shops, shops run by co-operative societies and communal organisations and grain shops for the employees of mills, factories and large organisations. The ration cards distributed to the residents of these areas can be registered with any of the authorised retail distributors in the whole of the Bombay Suburban District ration area. For instance, a resident of Parle-Andheri may register his ration card at a ration shop at Parle-Andheri or, if he so wishes, at a ration shop in Juhu, Bandra, Kurla, Ghatkopar-Kirol or Chembur village.

The Bombay Suburban District ration card holders will not, however, be able to register their ration cards at any shop in Bombay unless the holder is an employee of a mill, factory or a large organisation in Bombay having a grain shop for its employees. In such cases, a card can be resgistered at the mill, etc., concerned, but no supplies will be given against it until rationing is introduced in the Bombay Suburban District.

In order to avoid inconvenience to themselves, holders of ration cards should register early.

No Rationing For Karachi

KARACHI, June 10

It is learnt that in the opinion of the Food Control authority, there may not be any necessity to introduce rationing in Karachi during the next 12 months.

The machinery for the introduction of rationing in any particular direction will, however, be maintained intact.—A. P.

N. W. F. Congress To Decide

Constitutional Issue Under Discussion At Leaders' Conference

PESHAWAR, June 10.

Far-reaching discussions are reported to be taking place at the joint meeting of the members of the Congress Parliamentary Party, Frontier Provincial Congress Committee and prominent Khudai Khidmatgar leaders of the Province at the village Guligarhi about 15 miles north of Peshawar, to decide finally the Congress policy regarding constitutional and parliamentary activities in future. Dr. Khan Sahib, former Premier, Dewan Bhanjuram Gandhi, former Finance Minister, Khan Ali Gulkhan, President of the Frontier Provincial Congress Committee and others were present.

All the Congress leaders assembled at the meeting told the representative of the "United Press" that whatever decision might be arrived at it will be unanimous and every one of them, like true servants of God, will abide by that decision.

Khan Ali Gul Khan categorically denied the rumour prevalent in certain circles that there were differences among the Congress leaders on the question of contesting by-elections and attending the next session of the Frontier Assembly. He said, "As is natural we look at this particular issue from different angles but this does not mean that we are at daggers drawn. We have our country's interest first and foremost in view and then anything else."

At the time of wiring the leaders were still closeted in the room deciding the fate of the Frontier Province. If it is decided to contest the elections the Congress leaders are confident of capturing the majority of vacant seats in the Assembly.—United Press.

(From Our Correspondent)
POONA, June 10

The address by Pundit Kunzru, President, Servants of India Society, on June 12, the Society's Foundation Day, a prominent feature during the annual meeting of the Society has been abandoned this year under peculiar circumstances.

In view of the ban on public meetings since August last the District Magistrate's permission was sought on behalf of the Servants of India Society. It is stated that while giving permission, the District Magistrate laid down a condition that anything encouraging the Civil Disobedience movement must not be said. After this conditional permission, the idea of the Society President's address dropped.

Diplomatic Expert On Ineunu's Speech

LONDON, June 10.

Reuter's diplomatic correspondent cable: A study of the full text of President Ineunu's speech at the opening of the People's Party Congress at Ankara confirms that while he indicated no change in Turkey's foreign policy, he laid special stress on the country's armed preparedness.

Perhaps chief importance of the speech lies in the fact that it was made in full consciousness that the supreme crisis in the war was approaching.

When the President declared, "If and when the necessity arises, it will be our duty to use all our resources, whether in manpower or in money."

His thinly veiled hint that circumstances might drive Turkey into war, was nothing new. The possibility of events compelling Turkey to have recourse to arms in the defence of her honour and security has long been present in the minds of Turkish statesmen and has frequently been publicly stressed by the President himself.—Reuter.

Govt. Of India's New Plan For Paper Control

Reserves Reduced By 30 Per Cent To Meet Essential Non-Govt. Requirements

NEW DELHI, June 10.

With a view to relieving, to the greatest extent possible, the position regarding the supply of paper for essential non-Government requirements, the Government of India have decided that the quantity of paper reserved for meeting Government requirements should be reduced from 90 per cent to 70 per cent, of the Indian-mill production of paper, and accordingly 30 per cent of the paper produced by the Indian mills will now be available for non-Government users, says a Press Note.

The Government of India have further agreed to the establishment of a joint organisation of the Indian Paper Makers' Association and the Indian Paper Mills' Association under the title of the Paper Control and Distribution Association for the purpose of exercising general control over the paper mills and their agents and distributors with the object of ensuring that equitable distribution of the paper now released for non-Government requirements is affected among the different markets and that sales are made at controlled prices.

A SUPERVISING AGENCY

The Paper Control and Distribution Association started functioning with effect from May 1, 1943; its office is located at 7, Royal Exchange Place, Calcutta. While the Paper Control and Distribution Association will exercise general supervision over the industry, it will not actually handle orders for paper. Requests for the supply of paper from non-Government users should therefore be addressed to the nearest mills or their agents and distributors. General questions affecting distribution or enforcement of controlled prices may, however, be referred to the Association.

Prior to April 5, 1943, the Government of India occasionally released, out of the 90 per cent of the Indian mill production of paper reserved for Government use, a small quantity of paper to meet certain essential non-Government requirements. As the quantity reserved for Government use has now been reduced from 90 per cent to 70 per cent of the production of Indian paper mills, it will not be possible in future to spare for non-Government users any paper out of this reduced reserved quantity. Accordingly, the system of issuing, in certain cases of essential non-Government requirements, permits for the release of paper from the quantity reserved for Government use has now been discontinued.—A. P.

Not a single word of the speeches delivered by Mr. Churchill in the House of Commons and President Roosevelt at hot springs was published by the German newspapers yesterday, according to the German Transocean News Agency, which explained that the speeches "formed part of the war of nerves". Well-informed circles in London consider this a most significant pointer to what the United States Navy Secretary Colonel Knox called the "jitters sweeping over our enemies."—Reuter.

The Bombay Chronicle

U. K. C. C.

The Government in India are seldom modest in their claims but in one respect they have adopted an attitude of unduly minimising their achievements. They have been at pains to reassure the Indian public that the U.K.C.C. is a relatively insignificant matter about which unnecessary pother and agitation are being made by the Indian commercial bodies and the Press. Such attitude is in sharp contrast to the boastful recital of the manifold and invaluable services of this Corporation by its Chairman at a lunch given in honour of the new Supply Member of the Government of India. Sir Francis Joseph dwelt enthusiastically and appreciatively on the help rendered by the Government of India in making available to the U.K.C.C. supplies urgently required for the Near and Middle East. He even revealed that the shipment of Indian wheat had spared Iran the rigours of famine two years ago and that Iran received from India foodstuffs such as sugar and tea, and manufactures such as cotton piecegoods as also raw materials —all evidently through the good offices and disinterested activities of this mighty Corporation! The "Daily Mail's" Industrial Correspondent wrote recently of the manner in which the U.K.C.C. "came to the rescue of the Middle East countries" and how "it was making friends whom Britain will need after the war." It was plain that large supplies have been drawn from India even to the detriment of Indian interests and to the eventual, if not immediate, benefit of this Corporation. Indian public opinion has cried itself hoarse during the last two years for a ban on exports of vital necessities of the Indian masses such as foodstuffs and cloth but it is evident that so long as the Government in India have to subordinate Indian interests to the dictates of His Majesty's Government and provide facilities and priorities to a body like the U. K. C. C., there is little prospect of the wishes of the Indian people being carried out in this matter. On the other hand, the British Government and public have realised that the best hope of maintaining British economy after the war and even guaranteeing such schemes as those of social security lies in the recapture and expansion of British export trade. The British Government have, therefore, firmly declined to give any assurance to wind up this Corporation after the war so that contacts built up by it during war would be of use to British manufacturers and exporters in post-war period. It is all very well for the official spokesmen to lay so much emphasis on the philanthropic activities of the U.K.C.C. for Soviet Russia. But, as stated by Mr. Phillip Jordan in his book "Russian Glory", the U.K.C.C. demanded from the Soviet a brokerage of three-sixteenth penny per pound of rubber over the world's prices when the Red Army was retreating on Moscow. It matters little to the Indian producer and consumer or the Indian exporter and merchant as to whether the U.K.C.C. operates directly or through His Majesty's Government because the fundamental objection that it interferes with normal channels of trade and deprives India of the opportunity of maintaining and building up trade contacts with outside markets remains. The Government of India have yet to explain why they cannot establish an Indian agency under their own auspices for directing and canalising Indian exports during the war.

Turkey's Warning

Reuter's Diplomatic correspondent notes the special stress laid in President Ineunu's recent speech on Turkey's armed preparedness. The President and other Turkish statesmen have invariably emphasized in their pronouncements Turkey's determination to preserve her neutrality and integrity and to fight any one who attempted to violate either. But it is true that the President went beyond that bare statement of Turkey's fixed and firm policy. His speech sounded significantly like a grim and threatening warning. There is no doubt that, as Reuter's correspondent says, "the supreme crisis in the war" is now approaching and Turkey is fully conscious of it. But how does Turkey feel, as President Ineunu's speech suggests, she is going to come into it? Who is the probable aggressor?

Neither Britain nor Russia will dream of attacking Turkey. Even apart from the relationship that has existed particularly between Britain and Turkey and the confidence which has rendered the flow of Lease Lend material possible, the Allies cannot, by provoking Turkey, open a dangerous front against them. That would be sheer madness and they are not mad. They have no reason to be. For even more solid reasons the Germans, too, ought not to contemplate any aggression against Turkey. For, if they did, they would make to the Allied ranks a present of a million fighting men and a strategically invaluable front in an area of Europe which is extremely valuable. If in the circumstances the Germans or their satellites do attack Turkey, it will be a conclusive proof of that they have been forced to the state of utter suicidal desperation.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Illuminating Contrast

According to a statement made by the Canadian Navy Minister, the naval strength of Canada in ships has increased by 33 times since the start of the war and the personnel by 30 times. The ships rose from 15 to 500, the personnel to 60,000 and is expected to reach 90,000 by the end of 1943. Evidently Canada does not think publication of these figures will be of value to the enemy. Publication of similar figures of the development of India's so-called naval strength will constitute a significant contrast. And that is the main reason why no exact figures have been made available. Even more illuminating is the comparative position as regards air strength. The Indian Air Force bears a relation to the Air Force of Canada, or for that matter of any Dominion which is literally negligible. In this connection, it is also instructive to recall that a mere handful of Indians is only now being allowed to benefit from the Empire training Scheme. This Scheme, started sometime before the war, has been reserved for all these four years of war, for personnel from Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Northern Ireland. No comment is necessary except to repeat the list of the beneficiaries for whom the scheme was deliberately formulated and deliberately worked for four years.

Sensible Suggestion

As Mr. William Shirer, the noted American correspondent, says, aerial bombing alone cannot win the war, for the Allies. This fact, we believe, is realised even by Mr. Churchill and others who have laid such insistent emphasis on the effectiveness of the air weapon. Other methods—what Mr. Churchill calls "amphibious operations"—have got to be used and are about to be used, too. Simultaneously with these operations, it would be a good thing if Nazi leaders were to be kept awake. There is much force in Mr. Shirer's suggestion that Berlin should be subjected to a nuisance raid every night—the British possess in the Mosquito, just the plane needed for the job—a heavy blitz once a week. Apart from keeping Berliners awake, the campaign will certainly produce a psychological effect on the whole of Axis occupied Europe.

HANDICAP TO WAR TIME CONTROLS

G. L. Mehta On Lack Of Adequate Public Support

"War-time Controls" was the subject of a speech by Mr. G. L. Mehta at a joint meeting of the Milgin Stores Merchants' Association and the Bombay Pipes and Fittings Association, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Mehta explaining the origin and nature of the controls stated that they were imposed for mobilising supplies, production, raw materials, financial resources and transport. Controls are operated through licensing, rationing and other forms of restrictions or prohibitions on exports, imports, foodstuffs, manufactures and sales. Controls involve the establishment of administrative machinery operated by Government although in certain well-organised industries the machinery is operated by the industries themselves. In England, all except 5 of the 25 Ministry of Supply Controls have had some direct interest before the war in the production or merchanting of the materials they now control. In India in the case of certain industries like steel and textile, control is being exercised through the industries themselves and in close contact with them or in certain others in conjunction with their respective trade organisations and marketing boards such as tea or jute. Most of these controls are in the hands of men who are unaware of business practice and have no business experience and are ignorant of the nature or peculiarities of the goods they control. Moreover, the multiplicity of Controllers, the complexity of Departments and the number of orders with frequent changes all tend to bewilder the ordinary businessman who is unaccustomed to filling different forms, averse to divulging information about his business and irritated about inordinate delays. Besides, owing to the present system and policy of the Government, there is not infrequently discrimination as against Indians. The question of controls in relation to post-war problems is also an important one since war-time necessity might conflict with post-war interests. The controls have, in many cases, superimposed a bureaucratic machine on top of the normal channels of trade which find it difficult to function.

NARIMAN'S SUGGESTION TO B. E. S. T.

Referring to the statement of Mr. A. S. Trollip, General Manager of the B. E. S. T., Mr. K. F. Nariman, in the course of a press statement says that Mr. Trollip has disclosed "an alarming state of affairs in the B. E. S. T., and if this is allowed to drift, will soon lead to a complete traffic deadlock in Bombay" Mr. Nariman points out that on the one hand the traffic demand is daily increasing with the expansion and development of the city and on the other hand, the rolling stock both of tram and bus of the only company that holds transport monopoly is daily deteriorating and decreasing. Mr. Nariman suggests that to tide over the present difficulties the B. E. S. T. must buy the passenger buses which are lying idle in various traffic centres in the province for want of petrol and use these buses in Bombay city after fitting them up with gas plants.

MAHASABHA LEAGUE COMBINE AGAINST CONGRESS!

LUCKNOW, June 10

Though it was the Muslim League Party that set the ball rolling for the restoration of popular Government in U. P. it is the Hindu Mahasabha that is now understood to be taking the leading part in furthering the move.

It is gathered in this connection that the Hindu Mahasabha has addressed a communication to all the non-Congress members in the Assembly urging upon them to co-operate in the formation of an all-party Ministry in the province. It is further understood to have entered into negotiations with the Muslim League Party on this subject. The League is said to be quite inclined to join hands with non-Congress members in making the move successful provided it can do so without prejudice to its fundamental creed. As the outcome of the whole plan depends on the attitude of the League there is every reason to believe that all possible efforts will be made to enable to lend its co-operation.—Orient Press.

Mr. V. D. Savarkar has formulated a "leading principle" for the guidance of Mahasabhaites to the effect that 'boycotting the Ministry—those ersatz ones, of course—altogether is bound to be more, often than not highly detrimental to Hindu interests."

Whether it will also be more often than not beneficial to Indian interests is obviously no concern of Mr. Savarkar.

The Half-Column

By "Dim"

A headline in Wednesday's paper reads: "Churchill 'Escorts Nazi Prisoners to U.S." This headline is over a New York message which says "that nearly 400 German prisoners of war, some of them high officers, travelled on the ship which brought Mr. Churchill to the U.S." Now that just shows the courtesy of the British to their German prisoners and how they sent their own Prime Minister in their midst. Lord Linlithgow didn't accompany Mahatma Gandhi even to Poona.

AN APPEAL to all consumers of
PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

The offensive phase of the war has begun. It brings with it the problem of supplying ever-increasing quantities of petroleum products to the Services whilst meeting in addition essential civil needs.

Without containers — tins, cans, drums and barrels — the distribution of oil is impossible. But the basic material of their manufacture is steel which to-day is needed first and foremost for the production of ships, tanks, guns, ammunition and other sinews of war.

Therefore the full co-operation of consumers is essential if the limited supply of containers still available to the Oil Industry is to give the service now required of it.

BURMAH-SHELL urges all users of petroleum products to protect petrol and oil containers from RUST, DAMAGE and DIRT and
